Vol. 52, No. 1 (August 1990)

Ultrafiltration through hydrogels: Effects of hydration and crosslinking
B. K.-O. Leung and G. Robinson (Oxford, U.K.) 1
Study of solute rejection models for thin film composite polyamide RO membranes
V.L. Punzi, G.P. Muldowney and K.B. Hunt (Villanova, PA, U.S.A.) 19
An integrated electrodialysis–evaporation process for the treatment of aqueous process streams containing electrolytes
D.A. Rockstraw, J.F. Scamehorn and E.A. O'Rear III (Norman, OK, U.S.A.) 43
Electrochemical properties of asymmetric cellulose acetate membranes
K. Asaka (Uji, Japan) 57
A new liquid membrane technology — Electrostatic pseudo liquid membrane
Zhong-Mao Gu (Beijing, P.R. China) 77
The energy of an ion in a cylindrical pore of a low dielectric membrane
B. Ryul Min and K. Bin Im (Seoul, S. Korea) 89
Determination of surface dense layer structure parameters of the asymmetric membrane by gas permeation method
D. Wang, R. Xu, G. Jiang and B. Zhu (Dalian, P.R. China) 97
Preparation conditions affecting the permeability of polyethylene microfiltration membranes (Short Communication)
A. Dimov and M.A. Islam (Bourgas, Bulgaria) 109
Book Review 115
Meeting Announcement 117
Meetings Calendar 118

Vol. 52, No. 2 (September 1, 1990)

Protein fouling of UF membranes: Causes and consequences (Review)
J.L. Nilsson (Lund, Sweden) 121
Binary and ternary interdiffusion of counter ions across cation exchange membrane
T. Zuyi, Z. Yuqing, Y. Gengliang, C. Zheng, O. Mingan and C. Xingqu (Lanzhou, P.R. China) 143
Cationic/anionic interpenetrating polymer network membranes for the pervaporation of ethanol–water mixture
Y.K. Lee (Seoul, S. Korea), T.-M. Tak and D.S. Lee (Kyungki, S. Korea) and S.C. Kim (Seoul, S. Korea) 157
Fouling in tangential-flow ultrafiltration: The effect of colloid size and coagulation pretreatment
V. Lahoussine-Turcaud (Le Pecq, France), M.R. Wiesner (Houston, TX, U.S.A.) and J.-Y. Bottero (Vandoeuvre les Nancy, France) 173
Permselectivity of ionic solutes across charged dialysis membranes: In vitro and in vivo diffusive mass transfer
T. Kunitomo (Kamakura, Japan) 191
Mathematical modelling of multicomponent membrane permeators
K. Li, D.R. Acharya and R. Hughes (Salford, Great Britain) 205
Approximate solutions for permeabilities of binary gas mixture via conventional and

Special Issue: Selected papers presented at the Third Ravello Symposium on Advanced Membrane Science and Technology, Ravello, Italy, October 2–7, 1988

Guest Editorial 235
Microporous membrane formation via thermally induced phase separation. I. Solid–liquid phase separation
D.R. Lloyd (Austin, TX, U.S.A.), K.E. Kinzer and H.S. Tseng (St. Paul, MN, U.S.A.) 239
Development of rubbery materials with excellent barrier properties to H_2, D_2 and T_2
T. Nakagawa, M. Yoshida and K. Kidokoro (Kawasaki, Japan) 263
Membranes containing selective flakes
E.L. Cussler (Minneapolis, MN, U.S.A.) 275
Novel poly(silicon olefins) for gas separations
N.A. Plate, S.G. Durgarjan, V.S. Khotimskii, V.V. Teplyakov and Yu.P. Yampol'skii (Moscow, U.S.S.R.) 289
Membrane transport properties in relation to microscopic and macroscopic structural inhomogeneity
J.H. Petropoulos (Athens, Greece) 305
Micromolecular transport in oriented glassy polymer films studied by a variety of techniques
M. Sanopoulou and J.H. Petropoulos (Athens, Greece) 325
Membrane reactors for the investigation of product inhibition of enzyme activity
F. Alfani (L'Aquila, Italy), L. Cantarella, A. Gallifuoco (Cassino, Italy) and M. Cantarella (Salerno, Italy) 339
Theoretical and experimental analysis of a hybrid bioartificial membrane pancreas: A distributed parameter model taking into account Starling fluxes
G. Catapano (Louisville, KY, U.S.A.), G. Iorio, E. Drioli (Arcavacata di Rende, Italy), C.P. Lombardi, F. Crucitti, G.B. Doglietto and M. Bellantone (Roma, Italy) 351
The skin as a barrier membrane: Relating in vitro measurements to in vivo behavior
J.M. Whang, J.A. Quinn and D.J. Graves (Philadelphia, PA, U.S.A.) 379
Water and oxygen transport as performance parameters of paint films
L. Nicodemo, F. Bellucci, A. Marcone and T. Monetta (Naples, Italy) 393
